Tutoring Experience

I have been tutoring for the past 7 years, working with students from IB, IGCSE, and A-Level curriculums. My expertise spans across core mathematical topics such as calculus, algebra, and probability, helping students grasp complex concepts and excel in their exams.

In addition to working with school-level curriculums, I have also guided students through university preparation. My one-on-one sessions ensure personalised attention, enabling students to improve their academic performance and confidence in mathematics.
