Tutoring Experience

Over the last 16 years, I've worked with students from various international schools across the UAE and beyond. My teaching spans multiple curriculums, including IB and A-Levels, with a focus on chemistry and its applications in real-world contexts. Many of my students have achieved top grades and pursued higher education in renowned universities worldwide.

In addition to tutoring high school students, I've also supported undergraduates, guiding them through advanced chemistry topics like organic chemistry and analytical chemistry. My experience has allowed me to cater to diverse learning styles, ensuring each student builds a strong foundation and feels confident in their exam preparations.

As a tutor, I strive to create a positive learning environment where students can thrive. My goal is to not only improve their academic performance but also inspire a genuine interest in chemistry, making complex concepts easier to understand and apply.
