Tutoring Experience

With a decade of experience in IB and A-Level Psychology, I have guided numerous students through the complexities of psychology, helping them achieve high scores in their internal assessments and external exams. My approach involves providing clear, structured support to students, ensuring they are well-prepared for all aspects of the IB and A-Level Psychology courses.

In addition to my teaching, I also use my background in counseling psychology to provide students with holistic support, understanding their academic and mental needs. I have found that this dual approach allows me to better connect with students, addressing both their academic challenges and the emotional aspects of their learning journey.

Over the years, I've worked with students from diverse cultural backgrounds, offering tutoring both online and in person. My goal is to inspire a passion for psychology while ensuring my students are equipped with the knowledge and skills they need for success in their exams and beyond.
